

106 AD

---

After Trajan's conquest of DACIA, LUD. continued for 123 days.

106 AD → 133 AD

TRAJAN'S Column
Celebrates Emperor's victory against Dacians

Roman forces entered Petra
And the Nabatean Kingdom ceased to exist. Nabatean life & culture were scarcely affected however, and continued with little evidence of Roman or Christian impact

106 AD

After Trajan's conquest of Dacia ludi continued for 123 days

Alexander I, Bishop of Rome

AD 106

Romans conquered the indigenous Dacians and created the province of DACIA which occupied the area of modern Romania

Between 271 and 10th cen a series of migrating tribes invaded the region. Finally the MAGYARS moved into Transylvania

106

The great kingdom of NABATAEVS (Arabia) was occupied and became a Roman province

106 AD

Erecting of the Forum and Column of Trajan in Rome

Colonization of Dacia